Dear Mr. President-Elect:

We are pleased to forward to you "Achieving the Potential: The Future of Federal E-rulemaking." The issues this report addresses, we believe, will have high importance for your administration's success in administrative law matters. We submit it in the hope of contributing to that success, by identifying issues on which expert administrative lawyers, private and public and academic, Republican and Democrat, have been able to agree. The views expressed herein are presented on behalf of the Section of Administrative Law and Regulatory Practice. They have not been approved by the House of Delegates or the Board of Governors of the American Bar Association and, accordingly, should not be construed as representing the policy of the American Bar Association.

As you may know, the Section of Administrative Law and Regulatory Practice of the American Bar Association has long been committed to promoting improvements in federal administrative process through non-partisan dialogue. The Committee on the Status and Future of Federal e-Rulemaking worked hard to develop the interrelated recommendations for redesign and further development of the federal e-rulemaking system.

Our Section would be delighted to discuss the issues raised in this report with you and assist you in pursuing them.

Sincerely yours,

H. Russell Frisby
Chair
